Mr. Nasby Arrives at Home—How His People were Outraged.

POST OFFIS, CONFEDERATE X ROADS,
(Wich is in the Stait uv Kentucky,)
September 16, 1866.

I found my flock in a terrible state uv depression, at wich, when I wuz told the cause, I didn't wonder at. There wuz, back of the corners, on the side of the hill, over towards Garrettstown, about three-quarters uv a mile this side of Abbott's grocery, (we estimate distance from one grocery to another), five or six families of niggers. The males of this settlement had all been in the Federal army ez sojers, and hed saved their pay and bounty and sich, and hed bought uv a digustid Confederate, who proposed to find in Mexico that freedom wich was denied him here, and who bein determined to leave the country, didn't care who he sold his plantashen to, so ez he got greenbax, three hundred acres, which they hed divided up and built cabins onto them, and wuz a cultavatin it. There was a storekeeper at the corners who came here from Illinoy, and who hed been so greedy uv gain and so graspin as to buy their produce of them, and sell them such supplies es they needed. These accursed sons and daughters uv Ham wuz a livin here in comfort. The thing wuz gettin unendurable. They come to the corners dressed in clothes without patches and white shirts and hats on; and the females in dresses and hoops under them; in short, these apes hed assumed so much uv the style uv the people that if it hadn't been for their black faces they would have passed for folks.

Our people became indignant, and ez soon ez I returned I wuz requested to call a meetin to consider the matter, which I uv course did.

The horn wuz tooted, and the entire Corners wuz assembled, excepting the Illinoy storekeeper, who did'nt attend to, uz much. I stated briefly and eloquently (I hev improved in public speaking since I heerd His Serene Highness, Andro, all the way from Louisville,) and asked brothers to ease their minds.

Squire Gavit had observed the progress uv them niggers with the greatest alarm. He hed noticed them coming to the corners dressed better nor his family dressed, and sellin the produce uv their land to that wretch—

At this point the Illinoy store-keeper come in, and the Squire proceeded.

——he shood say Mr. Pollock, and he hed made inquiries and found that one family hed sold three hundred and seventy-five dollars worth uv truck this season, uv which they hed laid out for clothes and books tu hundred dollars, leevin em one hundred and seventy-five dollars in cash, which was more money than he hed made sens the accursed Linkin passed the emancipashen proclamation. And what did driv iron into his soul wuz the fact that wun uv them niggers wuz his nigger. "The money they hev," pursood the Squire, "is my money, that man worth $1,500 is my man; his wife my woman; her children my children—"

"That's a literal fact," shouted Joe Bigler, a drunken returned Confederate sojer; "they hev your nose eggsactly, and ther're the meanest yaller brats in the settlement!"

This unhappy remark ended in a slight unpleasantness which resulted in the Squire's bein carried out minus one ear, and his nose smashed. Joseph remarked that he wanted to git at him ever sense he wouldn't lend him a half a dollar two months ago. He was now satisfied, and hoped this little episode wouldn't mar the harmony of the meetin.

Elder Smathers observed that he hed notist with pain that them niggers allus hed money and wuz allus drest well, while we, their soopeors, hed no money and nothin to boast uv in the way uv close. He would say——

Pollock the Illindy store-keeper put in. Ef the Elder wood work ez them niggers wuz workin, and not loaf over half the time at Bascomb's grocery, he might possibly hev a full soot uv close, and now and then a dollar in money. It wuz here es it wus in all strikly Dimekratic communities, the grocery keepers absorb all the floatin capital, and——

He was not allowed to proceed. Bascom flung a chair at him, and four or five of his constitooents fell on him. He wuz carried out for dead. Bascom remarked that he wuz for the utmost freedom of speech, but in the discussion uv a grate constitooshnel question no Illinoy ablishnist shood put in his yawp. The patriotic remark wuz cheered, but when Bascom ask't the whole meetin out to drink, the applause was uproarious. Bascom allus gets applause—he knows how to move an audience.

Deekin Pogram sed he'd bore with them niggers till his patience wuz gin out. He endoored it till last Sunday. After service he felt pensive, ruther, and walked out toward Garrettstown, meditatin as he went on the sermon he hed listened to that mornin on the necessity uv the spread uv the Gospil. Mournin in sperit over the condition uv the heathen, he didn't notis where he wus till he found hisself in the nigger settlement, and in front uv one uv their houses. There he saw a site wich paralyzed him. There wuz a nigger wich wuz wunst his nigger, wich Linkin deprived him uv, settin under his porch and a profanin the Holy Bible by teachin his child to read it! Kin this be endoored? the Deekin asked.

Deekin Paskins sed he must bear his unworthy testimony agin these disturbers. They hed, he knowd whereof he spoke, hired a female woman from Massachusetts to teach their children! He hed bin in their skool-room and with his own eyes witnest it.

Bascom, the grocery keeper, hed bin shocked at their conduct. He was convinct that a nigger wuz a beast. They come to the corners to sell the produx of their lands—do they spend their money at his bar? Nary 1! They spend sum of it at the store of a disorgenizer from Illinoy, who is here interferin with the bizness of troo Southern men, but he hed never seen one of 'em inside his door. He had no pashence with 'em, and believed sumthin shood be done to rid the community uv sich youseless inhabitants. Ef they ever get votes they're agin us. No man who dodges my bar ever votes straight Dimocracy.

Giueral Punt moved that this meetin do to wunst proceed to the settlement and clean 'em out. They wuz a reproach to Kentucky. Of course, ez they were heathens and savages, sich goods ez they hed wood fall to the righteous, uv whom we wuz which, and he insisted upon a fair divide. All he wanted wuz a bureau and a set uv chairs he hed seen.

The motion was amindid to inclood Pollock, the Illinoy storekeper, and it wuz at wunst acted upon.

Pollock wuz reconstructed first. Filled with zeal for the right, his door wuz busted in, and in a jiffy the goods which he wuz contaminatin our people with wuz distributed among the people, each takin sich ez sooted em. Wun man sejested that ez they wuz made by Yankees, and brought South by Yankees, that there wuz contaminashen in the touch uv em, and that they be burned, but he wuz hooted down, our people seein a distinction. The contaminashen wuz in payin for em—gittin em gratooitously took the cuss off.

Elated, the crowd started for the settlement. I never saw more zeal manifested. A half hour brought us there, and then a scene ensood wich filled me with joy onspeakable. The niggers wuz routed out and their goods wuz bundled after em. The Bibles and skool books wuz destroyed first coz we hed no use for em; then chairs, tables and bureaus, clothin and beddin wuz distributed. A woomun hed the impudence to beg for suthin she fancied, when the righteous zeal uv my next door neighbor, Pettus, biled over, and he struck her. Her husband, forgettin his color, struck Pettus, and the outrage wuz completed. A nigger had raised his hand agin a white man!

The insulted Caucashen blood riz, and in less than a minit the bodies of six Ethiopians wuz a danglin in the air, and the bodies uv six Ethiopian wimin wuz a layin prostrate on the earth. The children wuz spared, for they wuz still young, and not havin bin taught to read so far that they could not forget, it kept carefully from books, they kin be brought up in the proper speer, ez servance uv their brethern. (By the way, the inspired writer must hev yoosed this word "brethern" in this connecshun figeratively. The nigger bein a beast, cannot be our brother.) Sum may censure us for too mutch zeal in this matter, but what else cood we hev dun? We are high toned and can't stand everything. These niggers had no rite to irritate us by their presence. They knowd our feelin on the subjick, and by buyin land and remainin in the vicinity they kindled a flame wich resulted ez it did. Ez they did in Memfis and Noo Orleans, they brought their fate onto their own heads.

Pollock recovered, and with the Yankee school marm who wuz a teachin the niggers, left for the North yesterday. It speaks well for the forbearance uv our people that they wuz permitted to depart at all.

The Benton County Murder.

The Corvallis Gazette publishes the following. We give it a place, as it is a fuller account of the terrible tragedy than that published in this paper a few days ago:

"On last Sabbath morning, the 21st of October, about eleven miles west of Corvallis, in Benton county, in an untenanted cabin, on the land of Mr. McGhee, the body of an unknown person was found under the following circumstances: Mr. McGhee and Mr. Sol King went to the cabin on Sunday morning, and found a body showing marks of violence, partly burned, and which apparently had been dead for some time. Signs of fire, in several places, indicated that an attempt had been made to burn the house; one of the sleepers near where he was lying was burned off—lining of the house partly consumed; the body was burned nearly through at the small of the back, also about the head and arms. Messengers came to town, and E. Holgate, J. P., acting Coroner, immediately repaired to where the remains were, and summoned a jury, before whom the following testimony was given:

John McF. Brinn—being first duly sworn, says: On Wednesday last—on the road from the school house to Summers', from 7 to 8 o'clock P. M., I met two men, one in front of the other. One appeared an old man between 40 and 50 years of age, the other a young man from 21 to 28 years. They said: "Halloo! where are you going—is there any house near here where we can be accommodated?" I told them they had just passed one. They wanted to know if there was one further on the road? I told them there was one, but I did not know that they could be accommodated. They then asked me where I was going? I told them to a neighbor's. They asked me where my house was—where I lived,—all this by the young man. I motioned in the direction of my house, telling them there were only two little boys there. They then asked me if there was not a white school house over there? I said yes. The young man said: "Come on, we will stop there for the night. They had no blankets. Both had sticks. Young man was about the size of Jasper Miller—5 feet 10 inches. I called him dark complexioned. The old man, 40 to 50 years old—well dressed—light coat. Young man darker, dressed than old man. They appeared to advance on me, asking many questions. Enquired particularly where the negroes lived—said they were directed to go there. They were going toward school house. All this in Benton county.

Edwin Johnson, (colored) being first duly sworn says: Two men came before 7 o'clock, Wednesday evening; asked to stop all night at house. I had no accommodation for them. Old gentleman insisted on staying all night—being very tired. Directed them to Mr. Summers', about half mile distant. Old gentleman still insisted on stopping, as he did not wish to go further. The young man insisted on going on. The hour was 7, as I asked the old man, and both drew their watches. The old man's watch, silver—heavy case, lever. They said they came from Oregon City—came by Corvallis. Old man, I believe, had on blue pants, light coat. Young man wearing mixed cloth. Think old man had light whiskers by the side of face. Came across Mary's River bridge; went through the fence at the bars, toward Summers' house. I think this is the body of the old man. All this in Benton County.

Dr. T. N. Snow, being first duly sworn, says: I am a surgeon. This is simply a case of broken skull by a violent blow of a club or stick—the brain being in sight. Skull broken in several places—brain showing through the break. That from the amount of broken skull, bruise or concussion, would produce death without anything else. The membrane of the brain is torn up and broken loose from the skull. The integument above the right eye is bursted apart—brain is highly congested. The congestion would, of itself, produce death. The body is partially consumed by fire, or about the spinal column, above the hips. No other marks of violence but about the head.

DESCRIPTION.—Name unknown; about five feet eight inches high; stout built; between forty and fifty years of age; head inclined to bald; sandy complexion; shaved clean, except just below point of ear; teeth out in front; tattooed on right arm, "H. H.," with a Shamrock leaf below; cassimere pants; white shirt, undershirt and drawers; small meerschaum pipe near him, and jack-knife in his vest pocket, both small blades broken; no coat or hat found.

The following is the verdict of the jury. We, the Coroner's jury, upon the case of a man found murdered in the house of Mr. McGee in Benton county, return a verdict that said man, came to his death by violent blows from a club, or some blunt instrument in the hands of some person unknown to us.

JOHN McF. BRINN, W. F. HENDERSON.
W. S. McCULLOUGH, G. W. ROSS,
HIRAM WOOD, JAMES AKIN.

GRANT AND FARRAGUT.—On the way to Niagara Falls a great deal of merriment was created in the President's party by a pleasant rivalry which sprang up between Grant and Farragut. At one or two places the ladies kissed the naval hero, and had merely shaken hands with the unconditional Commander-in-Chief. "This," said the General, "is easily explained. The Admiral is so old that the ladies don't hesitate to kiss him, but they don't like to take such liberties with a young man like me." Against this the Admiral laughingly protested, ascribing the imputation upon age to jealousy.

The Portland Press tells the following rather extravagant story to illustrate the wholesale thieving practised there on the night of the great fire: "One who had been slumbering peacefully in his grave in the Eastern cemetery, awoke, and walking forth inquired if 'the day of judgment had come?' On being told that it was only Portland burning, he remarked that he would go back to his repose. On reaching his grave he found that in his absence somebody had stolen his coffin!"

"Gen. Custar, who spirited away a splendid race horse from one of our citizens, after the evacuation, under the plea of 'military necessity,' is figuring at the Philadelphia Convention. We might agree, perhaps, to clasp this warrior in close political embrace, but would prefer first to lay aside our watch and valuables."

MONDAY MORNING OCTOBER 29 1866

"A Leader Without a Party"

An English journal, in the course of a discriminating article on American politics concedes one advantage to President Johnson—he possesses Seward the statesman who when the revolution began declared it would end in ninety days, and who, now that its fourth act is closed, cannot see, cannot even guess, whither the plot of the drama tends who has not we verily believe a suspicion that twenty millions of freemen did not fight to the death in order that their defeated foes should be constitutionally admitted to govern them" Severe as this remark is, it is not unjust It is a fair estimate of Seward's statesmanship by an entirely disinterested observer In conceding to the President the single advantage of possessing such a counselor, this English writer draws one of the most forcible illustrations of the weakness and hopelessness of Johnson's cause that could be expressed or imagined

Time was, when William H Seward was regarded as the great champion of liberty, and from the reputation thus acquired, was considered an able and forecasting statesman But this reputation has not been sustained by the later acts of his life Ever since 1860 he has been steadily losing the confidence of the people, and at this time there are none of any party who have the least faith either in his political wisdom or in the rectitude of his purposes People cannot always be deceived by shams. They are now in a proper mood to question Seward's right to rank foremost among the statesmen of the world The Secretary excels all men the number and prolixity of the documents which go by the name of "state papers" that have fallen from his pen, but until the ability to diffuse common place ideas over the greatest surface of blank paper, comes to be regarded as a proof of the highest statesmanship, Seward will not be entitled to the first place. And even when this test is established, Henry A Wise will dispute with him for the pre eminence. Seward's later works ought by all means to keep perpetual company with those of Wise Judged by the rule just stated, these two distinguished persons are the greatest statesmen America has ever produced But as the writing over of reams of paper failed to make Cottle a poet, so the statesmanship of Seward and Wise may, on the same principle, be held in light estimation by the coming ages.

This English writer hits the mark exactly when he says that Seward is no more able to comprehend the revolution and its tendency now, after the completion of its fourth act, than he was when the drama began. All is as dark and as utterly incomprehensible to him as it was when the plot began to reveal itself and he declared that we should see its denouement in "ninety days" To this hour his eyes are blind to what long appeared to every other observer—that the end will be reached when all men are established in equal rights, and not a moment before. His policy all along has been to apply remedies that were entirely inadequate to reach and correct the existing evil What he would have done is well described by Bacon in his essay on seditions "He that turneth humors back and maketh the wound bleed inwards, endangereth malign ulcers and pernicious imposthumations"

The New York Nation calls Seward a "leader without a party," and in an article of great power shows up his hollowness and treachery It explains that the secret of his diplomacy is timorousness or cowardice, and exposes the unmanliness and duplicity of his course in his dealings with the rebels all through the struggle Seward, as the Nation affirms, feels aggrieved because his party, having discovered his untrustworthiness during the war, and having become still more clearly aware of it since, refuses him as a leader "He has no other vocation in life than to be a public leader—and now no party will have him. Distrusted by his old friends, he will never be taken to the bosom by his old enemies. He wanders about like a restless ghost—a leader without a party" He has long wanted to be President, and now, when he finds reinstation with his party impossible, he resorts to the last expedient, that of forming a new party, and, as he might have foreknown, had his sagacity been equal to his vanity and ambition, fails entirely

Seward is now consorting with men who he always opposed up to 1860. He is now maintaining principles directly the opposite of those to which he devoted the energies of his earlier and better years. But Seward did not make the Republican party, as some of his admirers yet affirm He lent it efficient aid when it needed his services, but it would have grown into strength and obtained empire without him. Its ideas are older than Seward's time. It does not owe its life to him, and will not die at his bidding

AN ENGLISHMAN'S WORDS—The London Spectator says that the issue Johnson has raised with Congress is not a contest with that body alone. "He is fighting a foe which has already defeated a man probably greater than himself, backed by allies undoubtedly stronger than any he is at all likely to secure—the great American people What has the President to trust in that the original seceders had not? His own genius? It is not greater than that of Davis. The President controls the army? It has been reduced to less than fifty thousand men. He commands the navy? Just so long as the navy, now officered by Northerners, conceives itself bound to obey, He has control of Washington? Possibly, but Chicago is a much more fitting center of political action. He has the prestige of a position consecrated by a hundred years of custom, by a Constitution which seems to Americans almost divine, by the habitual reverence of three generations? And so has Congress, and while Congress has the legal power of impeaching him, he has not the legal power of proscribing Congress"

THE "OREGON CITY ENTERPRISE"—This new candidate for popular favor appeared at Oregon City last Saturday It is the same in size as the Corvallis Gazette, but being in smaller type contains a much greater amount of matter. The mechanical appearance is first-rate and the matter with which the first number is filled, is ditto The Enterprise ought to succeed and probably will The people of Oregon City and Clackamas county, will be false to their own interests if they do not sustain it. The Enterprise is published weekly, by D C Ireland who is also its editor, at $3 per year in advance We cordially extend the hand of fellowship and wish the Enterprise a long voyage and a prosperous one

Andrew Johnson has assured the American people a great number of times that he has "swung round the circle" He might have said that he had swung round the circle frequently He swung round it on the day of inauguration, and again on the 22d of February During his northern stumping tour he swung round it every day There are cases of swinging round the circle in our police court almost every day under the head of "dead drunk" or as the President would render it, "D D"

Gen Butler at the close of the speeches by Southern loyalists at Faneuil Hall, was called out but excused himself from speaking further than just to ask his hearers to imagine how it would sound to hear of George Washington making such a tour as Johnson had made He said

> Let them imagine that scene at Cincinnati, and hear the crowd saying, "Don t get mad George" "keep your temper George" Think of it and then think to what the presidential office is reduced by President Johnson [Laughter and applause]

Genuine Democracy

The following paragraph enunciatory of genuine Democratic principles, is from the New York Day Book, the recognized organ of much the larger portion of the Democratic party of the United States

> President Johnson has a mode of dealing with Abolitionists that is certainly very effective He says, in substance, that they have robbed the masters of four millions of negroes, and with an army they protect them from the people to whom the nigger thieves are now working the negroes and taxing the Northern laboring classes to increase their profit Mr Jefferson Davis, for example owned a plantation and perhaps one hundred negro servants After providing well for the negroes as well as his own immediate family the surplus if any over, was probably invested in more land &c They were the best fed and best worked laborers in the world and the happiest and most contented but the Northern States elected Lincoln for the sole purpose of forcing Mr Davis to change his relations to these negroes and instead of [illegible] or minors to accept them as his equals and fellow citizens. Mr Davis refused to be governed by such an argument as that and his State was invaded, overrun devastated, and now it is said that a relative or near friend of Lincoln's has taken possession of his land and is working his negroes and Mr Davis is himself imprisoned [illegible] rebel Did the world ever before witness such a spectacle? But this stealing of Mr Davis niggers and plantation by a friend of Abe Lincoln is only one feature of this strange spectacle If the year was a bad one Mr Davis had to bear it and economize his expenditure but the present owner of the negroes goes to no expense for overseers doctors, &c the Government supplies all of those, and then if the crop is a failure, the Northern laborers must make up the deficiency But even this taxation of the North to benefit the new masters is not all—the present owner of the unfortunate niggers insists on making them citizens and equals of the Northern laborers, who are taxed to make up his profits Well we must have patience a little while longer the end will come some day, and when it does, not one Abolitionist nigger thief or traitor will be left, from the Canada line to the Rio Grande and honest men will get their own again, their negroes as well as their land, all save the silver spoons and women's dresses now stowed away in Massachusetts.

There you have Democracy, pure and simple, and stripped of all the disguises with which some of its advocates, for expediency's sake, surround it "President Johnson says, in substance, that the Abolitionists robbed their masters of four millions of negroes" So President Johnson does say Then comes the sequitur which is to be the fulfillment of Democratic hopes The Abolitionists will all be exterminated and "honest men will get their own again, their negroes as well as their lands" It is evident that the Democracy suppose that President Johnson is the man to bring about these changes, and to make amends to "Mr Davis" for the wrongs he has suffered at the hands of the Abolitionists Certainly, if Johnson's policy were to triumph, its results would not be much different from those which this expounder of Democratic principles is waiting and praying for. Now and then we get the whole Copperhead creed in a nut-shell, and this exposition by the Day Book is the clearest we have lately seen

ADVICE AND THE REASON FOR IT—The bread and butter organ at the Dalles has come to the conclusion that the Southern States had better adopt the constitutional amendment, and advises them to do it. The motive which prompts the little bread-and-butter hungerer, sufficiently appears from the following quotation from his paper of the 25th

> Under the proposed amendments to the Constitution they would have forty members—a loss of thirteen representatives Should they, however under the proposed amendments, allow the negroes to vote, they would have sixty members—a gain of seven over the present number As under all circumstances—even that of negro suffrage—the Southern extremists will in reality be likely to give tone to Southern delegations in Congress, if the proposed amendments are adopted and the negroes permitted to vote the power of the ultra Southern element will be thereby increased in Congress.

The anxiety of the little bread and butterist for the continuance of Southern political superiority of representation is the "milk in the cocoa nut" of the above extract, and impels the feeble advocate to suggest "negro suffrage" The Dalles bread and butterist for negro suffrage! The world moves.

THE LAST ONE SURRENDERS—The little bread and butter organ at the Dalles practically abandons "my policy" In its issue of last week it pronounces for the Congressional plan of restoration Diminutive chick-a-biddy as it is, it undertakes to play the role of the New York Herald, and actually advises the Southern States to accept the constitutional amendment! Yet about six weeks ago it declared that the amendment was a most hideous thing,—was degrading to the South,—and that its whole object and effect would be to elevate disgusting "niggers" to an equal position with white people Something has surely gone amiss with the little flopper Its supply of bread and butter has probably been cut off These last spasmodic jerks of the poor abused starveling are the final throes of Johnsonism in Oregon

The Plea of Unconstitutionality

> "Resolved That [illegible] the larger portion of Congressional legislation for the last five years has been [illegible] con[illegible] corrupt and [illegible] tending to perpetual discord and disunion—and [illegible] the [illegible] the term capital and we shall vote for those only [illegible]

"The Congressional legislation of the last five years has been unconstitutional" So it has if the doctrine of Johnson and the Copperheads be correct Iowa has recently voted Is there any wonder that this precious platform was repudiated by a vote of more than two to one?

C C CLAY AND JOHNSON—The New York Tribune in a late issue says

Clement C Clay is urged by the Mobile Gazette as the choice of Alabama for United States Senator, in order (mark the impudence) that he may fling back in the teeth of his peers the foul charge of assassination that the creature Joseph Holt has endeavored to fasten upon him by suborned testimony. It is hardly worth our while to point to the notorious fact that the President is the only one who has officially charged Clay with assassination What shall be done with his teeth?

P H SHERIDAN Major General

NEW YORK Oct 26 —A correspondent writing from the City of Mexico under date [illegible] says Bazaine has received no less than three separate orders to return to France in accordance with the express wish of Maximilian [illegible] peremptory but conditional He availed himself of various excuses to remain The first order arrived some five or six [illegible] since but instead of obeying it he replied that affairs were so critical and complicated that no general direct from France could understand it If he should leave it he stated it would cause great disaster to the French troops and the ruin of the Imperial future The second order was met and promptly settled upon the ground of Madame Bazaine's delicate situation The importunacy of the Mexican government soon caused the third order but it did not find the Marshal unprepared with an answer he was engaged in preparing plans for the withdrawal of the troops If he should leave it would change the plans for concentrating the forces upon Mexico. As soon as the third order had been disposed of Bazaine left the city in hot haste for San Louis Potosi to concentrate the troops in the northern provinces and while in San Luis Matamoras fell and the French garrison at Tampico suffered capture without any attempts being made to relief.

Pennsylvania Election.

CHICAGO Oct 22 —Official returns of the Pennsylvania election make the Union majority 4 [illegible] The total vote was nearly six hundred thousand Geary's majority was 1766 [This dispatch seems to have been muddled by the telegraph The probable explanation is that the Union majority in Philadelphia is 4831; and that Geary's majority in the State is 17,060 Former dispatches stated his majority at 17,800 ED OREGONIAN.]

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

The Nicaragua Transit Line.

It is currently reported on good authority that the Central American Transit Company has received a large accession of capital from English sources which has put the company on a more substantial basis. It is said that the purchase of six vessels built for the New Orleans line has been effected and that it is the intention to retain two in the Atlantic to run between New York and Aspinwall, while the other four will be dispatched to the Pacific, three for active service and one for a relief boat The Central American Transit Company will maintain their present monthly service via Nicaragua and use the vessels to compete with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company When the dredging operations now being prosecuted at Greytown are completed the whole of the Central American Transit boats will be brought on the Nicaragua line

The proprietors of saloons where girls are employed to serve customers with liquors held a meeting yesterday afternoon and appointed a committee to wait on Judge Rix to learn his views in relation to the law on the subject of their business, and to see if any arrangement could be made for preparing a test case in which a decision of the Supreme Court can be immediately obtained They employed Wm M Lesbreske to defend the case and subscribed $2,000 towards defraying the expenses of the approaching legal warfare

The new paper recently started here by J J Ayers of San Francisco is progressing favorably and will apparently become a success

Some little anxiety has been expressed at the non arrival of the new steamer Montana of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, yesterday, from Panama as it is known that she is one of the finest steamers ever sent into the waters of the Pacific

COLORADO AND THE PACIFIC RAILROAD—The Denver News has the following on the subject of its locality being invaded by the main line of the Pacific Railroad

> The prospect of the main line of the Pacific Railroad [illegible] to Denver [illegible] the [illegible] strong arguments [illegible] the [illegible] way of the South [illegible] The weight in the [illegible] the [illegible] tional trouble or expense that [illegible] incurred [illegible] possession [illegible] To this [illegible] the fact that our range once passed on the other [illegible] will be in the way from here to Salt Lake—an advantage [illegible] the proposed north [illegible] route does not possess The less serious difficulty on account of snow obstructing the passage, will also be an argument in our favor

THE YIELD OF THE OWYHEE MINES

The Statesman of the 20th instant says

We find from the returns in the Revenue Assessor's [illegible] that the two assay offices in Owyhee [illegible] made the following return for the month of [illegible] of gold and silver bullion [illegible] by them

[illegible] & Co	$121,358 30
[illegible] Weil & Co	92,093 84
Total	$2[illegible]5,951 [illegible]

The above is the value in gold coin, but since our Eastern exchanges won't understand how much that is we will make the statement over again for their benefit in currency at 70 cents, [illegible] then be

[illegible] & Co	$[illegible]
[illegible] Weil & Co	[illegible]
Total	$[illegible]

Upon which they pay an income tax of $420 11 That is the return from one little camp not yet begun to be opened so as to yield the hundredth part of what it will yield Now don't any one get frightened, we mean it exactly Owyhee will yet turn out a hundred times as much bullion as that in one month It should be mentioned that this return is made for the first month after the close of the Morning Star and Oro Fino mines so the amount is not so large by sixty or eighty thousand as it would be if those mines had been yielding. Nor is it probable that all the bullion produced was deposited and assayed, but the above figures show that considering the amount of capital invested, a profitable return is being realized

REGULATION OF THE CURRENCY.

A large meeting of the citizens generally of Ruby and Silver was held on Thursday night to take measures to regulate the currency. It was resolved we are informed, that Owyhee creek dust would be taken at ten dollars per ounce, Boise at twelve dollars per ounce, and greenbacks at five cents above San Francisco quotations A subscription was also started to raise a thousand dollars reward for the conviction of any person of counterfeiting gold dust or mixing battery

DESERTION—RECAPTURE

Sergeant Calhoun returned yesterday morning from Reynold's on the Owyhee road, to Fort Boise, with the information that two soldiers deserted night before last from Co B, Capt Hinton Thirteen mules were missing the same night, but are supposed to have strayed, though it is quite probable that the skedaddlers assumed the responsibility to condemn the "transportation" and appropriate it for back pay

Since the above was put in type we learn that the mules have been found, and one of the deserters captured

WINTER SETTING IN

The weather yesterday was mixed Squalls of rain wind and a very little snow, with occasional sunshine, made up the day The higher hills are whitened with several inches of snow

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY

We clip the following items from the Vancouver Register of the 27th

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES

In our last issue we made a statement that only two counties in the Territory—King and Walla Walla had organized Agricultural Societies We have been informed since by W H Wood, Esq, of Steilacoom, that the Franklin Farmers' Club in Pierce county has been organized for some time past and holds its regular meetings and annual fairs and is doing very much to develop the agricultural interests of that county We also learn from the Standard of the 20th inst that the people of Whatcom county have organized an Agricultural Society, and held their first fair on the 15th which was said to have been a very creditable affair

A DISCOVERY OF MAGNESIA

Mr Crawford of Cowlitz County, has discovered a species of magnesia or tripoli, on the banks of the Cowlitz It is found there in immense quantities A specimen quantity was given to us by Mr Steggart, and it seems to possess the qualities of magnesia Whatever it may be, it is undoubtedly a profitable discovery

AN INJURIOUS REPORT CORRECTED

We are informed by a gentleman from the Sound, who resides there, and ought to be considered good authority, that the reported failure of Mr Meiggs, of Port Madison, as stated in the Oregonian, is without foundation He reports that the mill in Port Madison is in a flourishing condition and the proprietors abundantly able to meet their obligations We know Mr. Meiggs to be an energetic and enterprising citizen of this Territory, and feel gratified to hear the afore said report contradicted

MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 29, 1866.

"A Leader Without a Party."

An English journal, in the course of a discriminating article on American politics, "concedes one advantage to President Johnson—he possesses Seward, the statesman who, when the revolution began, declared it would end in ninety days, and who, now that its fourth act is closed, cannot see, cannot even guess, whither the plot of the drama tends, who has not we verily belive, a suspicion that twenty millions of freemen did not fight to the death in order that their defeated foes should be constitutionally admitted to govern them." Severe as this remark is, it is not unjust. It is a fair estimate of Seward's statesmanship by an entirely disinterested observer. In conceding to the President the single advantage of possessing such a counselor, this English writer draws one of the most forcible illustrations of the weakness and hopelessness of Johnson's cause that could be expressed or imagined.

Time was, when William H. Seward was regarded as the great champion of liberty; and from the reputation thus acquired, was considered an able and forecasting statesman. But this reputation has not been sustained by the later acts of his life. Ever since 1860 he has been steadily losing the confidence of the people, and at this time there are none of any party who have the least faith either in his political wisdom or in the rectitude of his purposes. People cannot always be deceived by shams. They are now in a proper mood to question Seward's right to rank foremost among the statesmen of the world. The Secretary excels all men the number and prolixity of the documents which go by the name of "state papers" that have fallen from his pen; but until the ability to diffuse common-place ideas over the greatest surface of blank paper, comes to be regarded as a proof of the highest statesmanship, Seward will not be entitled to the first place. And even when this test is established, Henry A. Wise will dispute with him for the pre-eminence. Seward's later works ought by all means to keep perpetual company with those of Wise. Judged by the rule just stated, these two distinguished persons are the greatest statesmen America has ever produced. But as the writing over of reams of paper failed to make Cottle a poet, so the statesmanship of Seward and Wise may, on the same principle, be held in light estimation by the coming ages.

This English writer hits the mark exactly when he says that Seward is no more able to comprehend the revolution and its tendency now, after the completion of its fourth act, than he was when the drama began. All is as dark and as utterly incomprehensible to him as it was when the plot began to reveal itself and he declared that we should see its denouement in "ninety days." To this hour his eyes are blind to what long appeared to every other observer—that the end will be reached when all men are established in equal rights, and not a moment before. His policy all along has been to apply remedies that were entirely inadequate to reach and correct the existing evil. What he would have done is well described by Bacon in his essay on seditions: "He that turneth humors back and maketh the wound bleed inwards, endangereth malign ulcers and pernicious imposthumations."

The New York Nation calls Seward a "leader without a party," and in an article of great power shows up his hollowness and treachery. It explains that the secret of his diplomacy is timorousness or cowardice, and exposes the unmanliness and duplicity of his course in his dealings with the rebels all through the struggle. Seward, as the Nation affirms, feels aggrieved because his party, having discovered his untrustworthiness during the war, and having become still more clearly aware of it since, refuses him as a leader. "He has no other vocation in life than to be a public leader—and now no party will have him. Distrusted by his old friends, he will never be taken to the bosom by his old enemies. He wanders about like a restless ghost—a leader without a party." He has long wanted to be President; and now, when he finds reinstation with his party impossible, he resorts to the last expedient, that of forming a new party; and, as he might have foreknown, had his sagacity been equal to his vanity and ambition, fails entirely.

Seward is now consorting with men who he always opposed up to 1860. He is now maintaining principles directly the opposite of those to which he devoted the energies of his earlier and better years. But Seward did not make the Republican party, as some of his admirers yet affirm. He lent it efficient aid when it needed his services; but it would have grown into strength and obtained empire without him. Its ideas are older than Seward's time. It does not owe its life to him, and will not die at his bidding.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S WORDS.—The London Spectator says that the issue Johnson has raised with Congress is not a contest with that body alone. "He is fighting a foe which has already defeated a man probably greater than himself, backed by allies undoubtedly stronger than any he is at all likely to secure—the great American people. What has the President to trust in that the original seceders had not? His own genius? It is not greater than that of Davis. The President controls the army? It has been reduced to less than fifty thousand men. He commands the navy? Just so long as the navy, now officered by Northerners, conceives itself bound to obey. He has control of Washington? Possibly, but Chicago is a much more fitting center of political action. He has the prestige of a position consecrated by a hundred years of custom, by a Constitution which seems to Americans almost divine, by the habitual reverence of three generations? And so has Congress, and while Congress has the legal power of impeaching him, he has not the legal power of proscribing Congress."

THE "OREGON CITY ENTERPRISE."—This new candidate for popular favor appeared at Oregon City last Saturday. It is the same in size as the Corvallis Gazette, but being in smaller type, contains a much greater amount of matter. The mechanical appearance is first-rate and the matter with which the first number is filled, is ditto. The Enterprise ought to succeed and probably will. The people of Oregon City and Clackamas county, will be false to their own interests if they do not sustain it. The Enterprise is published weekly, by D. C. Ireland who is also its editor, at $3 per year in advance. We cordially extend the hand of fellowship and wish the Enterprise a long voyage and a prosperous one.

Andrew Johnson has assured the American people a great number of times that he has "swung round the circle." He might have said that he had swung round the circle frequently. He swung round it on the day of inauguration, and again on the 22d of February. During his northern stamping tour, he swung round it every day. There are cases of swinging round the circle in our police court almost every day, under the head of "dead drunk" or as the President would render it, "D. D."

Gen. Butler, at the close of the speeches by Southern loyalists at Faneuil Hall, was called out but excused himself from speaking further than just to ask his hearers to imagine how it would sound to hear of George Washington making such a tour as Johnson had made. He said:

> Let them imagine that scene at Cincinnati, and hear the crowd saying: "Don't get mad, George!" "Keep your temper, George!" Think of it, and then think to what the presidential office is reduced by President Johnson. [Laughter and applause.]

STATE ITEMS.

The amount of treasure received from John Day's river since the 1st of May last is reported at [illegible].

The ladies of the Catholic church at the Dalles are to hold a fair and festival next Thursday evening.

All the papers east of the mountains speak of the falling of snows and the beginning of winter weather.

Company F, 14th infantry, commanded by Lieutenant Kistler, left the Dalles for Camp Watson last Thursday.

A Mexican known as "Sacramento" was found dead in his bed at one of the Dalles hotels last Wednesday, having died of hemorrhage of the lungs.

The annual session of the Columbia Conference of the M. E. Church South, is in session at Corvallis, under the Presidency of Bishop Kavanaugh, who arrived recently in the State.

The Corvallis Gazette announces that at the commencement of its 4th volume, to begin in about three weeks, it will adopt the pre-paying system—a very sensible determination.

The Gazette says that one firm in Corvallis has transacted business with the Yaquina Bay settlement, to the average amount of $200 per week, and that the trade is rapidly increasing.

The "Sucker-Hole" company, on Canyon creek, week before last, took out $300 in five days work. Other claims on the same creek are reported as paying quite as well.

Sherritt & McGraw, the Dalles counterfeiters, have been committed for trial, in default of bail. The coin said to have been "minted" by these fellows has found its way, in small sums, into the Willamette valley.

At the late term of the circuit court at Canyon City all the saloon-keepers were indicted and fined for violations of the Sunday law, in keeping "open shop" on the Sabbath. A negress was fined $15 for threatening a white woman's life.

Capt. White, with his company, "B," of the Oregon cavalry, is on his way to Fort Vancouver for muster out. Capt. Sprague's company of infantry will be the only Oregon soldiers left in the service when company B shall have been mustered out.

We take great pleasure in stating that strong indications favor the prediction that we shall next year witness the erection of a cotton mill in this city. Many of the prominent citizens have taken the matter into consideration, says the Oregon City Enterprise.

The Oregon City Enterprise says that, among other new projects to be undertaken in that city, an oil mill will be in operation before long. There are great inducements for such an establishment, in connection with the new paper mill. The cultivation of flax will receive a great impetus upon the commencement of this enterprise.

The sources of wealth of Clackamas county are briefly mentioned by the Enterprise thus: "The chief characteristics are based upon the unsurpassed water privileges in the county. This, at Oregon City, is abundant enough to supply manufactures more than equal to Lowell and Lynn, Massachusetts, and the use already made of a portion of it is evidence that it will be availed of largely in future years. At Oswego the Oregon Iron Company have already started an enterprise which is more promising than any similar establishment upon the Pacific coast. The iron beds in that locality are inexhaustible, and the water privilege very greatly superior to ordinary privileges. Milwaukie also enjoys the facility of an abundance of water for the purpose of manufactures, and already has works which would be a credit to larger communities. The mountains to the east of Oregon City contain gold, but this is a secondary consideration. In agriculture the county is very rich. There is scarcely an acre of ground in the county that will not prove valuable under proper cultivation."

Genuine Democracy.

The following paragraph enunciatory of genuine Democratic principles, is from the New York Day Book, the recognized organ of much the larger portion of the Democratic party of the United States:

> President Johnson has a mode of dealing with Abolitionists that is certainly very effective. He says, in substance, that they have robbed their masters of four millions of negroes, and with an army to protect them from the people robbed, these nigger thieves are now working the negroes, and taxing the Northern laboring classes to increase their profit. Mr. Jefferson Davis, for example, owned a plantation and perhaps a hundred negro servants. After providing well for the negroes, as well as his own immediate family, the surplus, if any over, was probably invested in more land, &c. They were the best fed and least worked laborers in the world, and the happiest and most contented; but the Northern States elected Lincoln for the sole purpose of forcing Mr. Davis to change the relations to these negroes, and instead of domestics or minors, to accept them as his equals and fellow citizens. Mr. Davis refused to be governed by such a government as that, and his State was invaded, overrun, devastated, and now it is said that a relative, or near friend of Lincoln's, has taken possession of his place and is working his negroes, and Mr. Davis is himself imprisoned as a "rebel." Did this world ever before witness such a spectacle? But this stealing of Mr. Davis' niggers and plantation by a friend of Abe Lincoln is only one feature of the strange spectacle. If the year was a bad one Mr. Davis had to bear it, and economize his expenditure; but the present owner of the negroes goes to no expense for overseers, doctors, &c., the Government provides all of those, and then if the crop is a failure, the Northern laborers must make up the deficiency. But even this taxation of the North to benefit the new masters is not all—the present owner of the unfortunate niggers insists on making them citizens and equals of the Northern laborers, who are taxed to make up his profits. Well, we must have patience a little while longer, the end will come some day, and when it does, not one Abolitionist, nigger thief, or traitor will be left, from the Canada line to the Rio Grande, and honest men will get their own again, their negroes as well as their land, all save the silver spoons and women's dresses now stowed away in Massachusetts.

There you have Democracy, pure and simple, and stripped of all the disguises with which some of its advocates, for expediency's sake, surround it. "President Johnson says, in substance, that the Abolitionists robbed their masters of four millions of negroes." So President Johnson does say. Then comes the sequitur which is to be the fulfillment of Democratic hopes: The Abolitionists will all be exterminated and "honest men will get their own again, their negroes as well as their lands." It is evident that the Democracy suppose that President Johnson is the man to bring about these changes, and to make amends to "Mr. Davis" for the wrongs he has suffered at the hands of the Abolitionists. Certainly, if Johnson's policy were to triumph, its results would not be much different from those which this expounder of Democratic principles is waiting and praying for. Now and then we get the whole Copperhead creed in a nut-shell; and this exposition by the Day Book is the clearest we have lately seen.

ADVICE AND THE REASON FOR IT.—The bread-and-butter organ at the Dalles has come to the conclusion that the Southern States had better adopt the constitutional amendment, and advises them to do it. The motive which prompts the little bread-and-butter hungerer, sufficiently appears from the following quotation from his paper of the 20th:

> Under the proposed amendments to the Constitution they would have forty members—a loss of thirteen representatives. Should they, however, under the proposed amendments, allow the negroes to vote, they would have sixty members—a gain of seven over the present number. As under all circumstances—even that of negro suffrage—the Southern extremists will in reality be likely to give tone to Southern delegations in Congress, if the proposed amendments are adopted, and the negroes permitted to vote, the power of the ultra Southern element will be thereby increased in Congress.

The anxiety of the little bread-and-butterist for the continuance of Southern political superiority of representation is the "milk in the cocoa-nut" of the above extract, and impels the feeble advocate to suggest "negro suffrage." The Dalles bread-and-butterist for negro suffrage! The world moves.

THE LAST ONE SURRENDERS.—The little bread and butter organ at the Dalles practically abandons "my policy." In its issue of last week it pronounces for the Congressional plan of restoration. Diminutive chick-a-biddy as it is, it undertakes to play the role of the New York Herald, and actually advises the Southern States to accept the constitutional amendment! Yet about six weeks ago it declared that the amendment was a most hideous thing,—was degrading to the South,—and that its whole object and effect would be to elevate disgusting "niggers" to an equal position with white people. Something has surely gone amiss with the little flopper. Its supply of bread and butter has probably been cut off. These last spasmodic jerks of the poor abused starveling are the final throes of Johnsonism in Oregon.

The Plea of Unconstitutionality.

> 7. Resolved, That much the larger portion of Congressional legislation for the last five years has been unconstitutional, corrupt and oppressive—tending to perpetual discord and disunion—and subjecting the labor of the whole country to the ravenous greed of Eastern capital, and we shall vote for those only who favor its repeal.

"The Congressional legislation of the last five years has been unconstitutional." So it has, if the doctrine of Johnson and the Copperheads be correct. Iowa has recently voted. Is there any wonder that this precious platform was repudiated by a vote of more than two to one?

C. C. CLAY AND JOHNSON.—The New York Tribune in a late issue says:

> Clement C. Clay is urged by the Mobile Gazette as the choice of Alabama for United States Senator, in order (mark the impudence) "that he may fling back in the teeth of his peers the foul charge of assassination that the creature Joseph Holt has endeavored to fasten upon him by suborned testimony." It is hardly worth our while to point to the notorious fact that the President is the only one who has officially charged Clay with assassination. What shall be done with his teeth?

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO OCTOBER 26.

Vermont Senators.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Oct 23.—The Vermont Legislature elected Justin S. Morrell Senator for the full term and Poland for the vacancy until next March; also Edmunds for the balance of the term he now occupies.

The President visits Baltimore.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The President visited Baltimore to-day to attend the closing session of the Roman Catholic Plenary Council and afterwards returned to Washington.

A Fearful Hurricane in the Northwest.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A storm of rain accompanied by a fearful wind prevailed here last night, blowing down a four story brick building, the walls of which had just been put up, on State street, near the corner of Madison. The falling walls crushed four small buildings on the corner of Madison, occupied by barber shops, small tenements, etc., burying twelve persons, five of whom were taken out dead. The loss of property is about [illegible].

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The hurricane that prevailed here Friday night raised the roof of the Lindell Hotel, in St. Louis, and demolished the new Catholic church in the same city. The total damage in St. Louis is estimated at $200,000. The storm also did great damage in Louisville, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, etc. All the telegraph lines are down.

A Destructive Hurricane at Sea.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Lieut. Calder Carson, of the U. S. steamer Tapora, reports under date of Nassau, 5th, that on the 30th ult., when on a line between Bermuda and Hatteras they encountered a revolving storm of hurricane violence. The hurricane moved at the rate of thirteen miles per hour; its diameter was about 100 miles. The vessel was on the outer circle and sustained no damage; but it passed over the Island of New Providence, on the west, leaving more than half of Nassau in ruins. It was under this storm that the steamer Evening Star went down on the 2d with 275 souls on board. The chapter of casualties of this storm is not half written.

Compromise of the Maryland Embroglio.

The Maryland embroglio has been compromised. The Police Commissioners will appear before the Governor to-morrow, but will only file a response, denying his power to remove them. It is now probable that the Commissioners will agree to appoint one of the three Judges, and the Clerk of elections from the Conservative party. Gov. Swan was here yesterday consulting with the President, and it is understood to have been determined not to send Federal troops into Maryland, pending this difficulty.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 22.—The Police Commissioners, through their counsel answered the summons of Governor Swan, denying his jurisdiction. The case is postponed until Friday.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—There has been a continued excitement but no outbreak. The prevailing opinion is that the question between the Governor and the police commissioners is one of law, to be determined in a legal manner.

Sale of Union Pacific Railroad Stock.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Union Pacific Railroad has sold five hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds, and the eastern division four hundred thousand at 101½ and 102½.

Financial and Commercial.

Gold is more active and firmer. Government securities are firm with a fair business. Wheat two and three cents better.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The Post's article says money is easy and stocks dull, without disposition to do better business, except among speculative cliques. Flour ten and fifteen cents better. Wheat three and five cents higher—decidedly more active.

Foreign News—Four days Fighting in Candia.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Reports have been received from Candia that after four days heavy fighting the christian forces were repulsed.

Our Neutrality Laws to be Enforced on the Mexican Border.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 26.—The following letter addressed to Gen. Sedgwick, commanding the United States forces at Brownsville, appears this evening:

HEADQUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF,
New Orleans, Oct. 23, 1866.

GENERAL:—I am satisfied there is only one way in which the state of affairs on the Rio Grande can be bettered, and that is by giving the heartiest support to the only government in Mexico recognized by our own—the only one which is friendly to us. You will therefore warn all adventurers of any party or pretended government in Mexico, or in the State of Tamaulipas, that they will not be permitted to violate the neutrality laws between the Liberal Government of Mexico and the United States and they will not be permitted to remain in our Territory or receive the protection of our flag in order to complete their machinations for the violation of our neutrality laws. These instructions will be enforced against the adherents of the Imperial buccaneers representing the so-called Imperial Government of Mexico, and also against the Ortega, Santa Anna and other factions. I am, General, very respectfully your obedient servant.

P. H. SHERIDAN, Maj. Gen. Com.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A correspondent writing from the City of Mexico under date of Oct. 10th, says: Bazaine has received no less than three separate orders to return to France in accordance with the express wishes of Maximilian, but as these orders are not peremptory but conditional, he availed himself of various excuses to remain. The first order arrived some five or six months since, but instead of obeying, it he replied that affairs were so critical and complicated that no General direct from France could understand it. If he should be removed it would cause great disaster to the French troops and the ruin of the Imperial interest. The second order was met and promptly settled upon the ground of Madame Bazaine's delicate situation. The importunacy of the Mexican government soon caused the third order but it did not find the Marshal unprepared with an answer; he was engaged in preparing plans for the withdrawal of the troops. If he should leave it would change the plans for concentrating the forces upon Mexico. As soon as the third order had been disposed of Bazaine left the city in hot haste for San Luis Potosi to concentrate the troops in the northern provinces, and while in San Luis Matamoras fell, and the French garrison at Tampico suffered capture without any attempts being made to relief.

Pennsylvania Election.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Official returns of the Pennsylvania election make the Union majority 4,331. The total vote was nearly six hundred thousand. Geary's majority was 1706. [This dispatch seems to have been muddled by the telegraph. The probable explanation is that the Union majority in Philadelphia is 4331, and that Geary's majority in the State is 17,060. Former dispatches stated his majority at 17,501. ED. OREGONIAN.]

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—The second trial of John Campbell for the murder of Anthony Hargrove has been postponed until the second Monday in next term. The accused has been tried once and found guilty of manslaughter, and sentenced to imprisonment, but an appeal to the Supreme Court ordered a new trial.

The Nicaragua Transit Line.

It is currently reported on good authority that the Central American Transit Company has received a large accession of capital from English sources, which has put the company on a more substantial basis. It is said that the purchase of six vessels built for the New Orleans line, has been effected, and that it is the intention to retain two in the Atlantic to run between New York and Aspinwall, while the other four will be dispatched to the Pacific, three for active service and one for a relief boat. The Central American Transit Company will maintain their present monthly service via Nicaragua and use the vessels to compete with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. When the dredging operations now being prosecuted at Greytown are completed the whole of the Central American Transit boats will be brought on the Nicaragua line.

The proprietors of saloons where girls are employed to serve customers with liquors held a meeting yesterday afternoon, and appointed a committee to wait on Judge Rix to learn his views in relation to the law on the subject of their business, and to see if any arrangement could be made for preparing a test case in which a decision of the Supreme Court can be immediately obtained. They employed Wm. M. Lenbreskie to defend the case, and subscribed $2,000 towards defraying the expenses of the approaching legal warfare.

The trial of Chas. P. Duane is still progressing. He gave his testimony in this morning, which does not differ from his statement when examined by the police magistrate.

Hawaiian Island News.

By the bark Comet we have Honolulu dates to October 8th. Ship Sea Serpent, bound to China, having Dr. Magoun, Mr. Westfall, of the New York Herald, and others on board, arrived in Honolulu October 4th, in 15 days from San Francisco. Among those who left by the Comet were his Excellency M. Desnoyers, late Commissioner and Consul from France at the Hawaiian Islands, who has been assigned at his own request, on account of the health of his family, to the Consulate of Newcastle, England.

Seven natives were killed by the falling of some rocks from a precipice at Kalabiwai, while they were engaged in fishing at the base.

On the 7th of September, at Lever's plantation, on the Maui, a Coolie committed suicide by hanging himself from a beam in a trash house. No reasonable cause is assigned for the act by any one.

Her Majesty Queen Victoria, has appointed James H. Woodhouse, now Her Majesty's Consul at Paris, to be Her Majesty's Commissioner and Consul-General at the Hawaiian Islands.

The new paper recently started here by J. J. Ayers, of San Francisco, is progressing favorably, and will apparently become a success.

Some little anxiety has been expressed at the non-arrival of the new steamer Montana, of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, yesterday, from Panama, as it is known that she is one of the finest steamers ever sent into the waters of the Pacific.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24, 6, P. M.—The Montana left Panama on the morning of the 11th, inst: The Arizona is weather bound; crossed the bar on the morning of the 13th inst. The Montana will be due here this evening or to-morrow morning.

An old French shoemaker known as Lesperane, was found dead in his bed last evening. He had been missing since last Saturday. It was presumed that he had committed suicide. On examination of the corpse, the coroner found that death had been caused by a ruptured blood-vessel. Lesperane was known to be addicted to the habit of intemperance.

Shipping.

Arrived Oct. 24—Ship Wm. Cummings, 167 days from Philadelphia with coal; 25th, bark Comet, 14 days from Honolulu.

Sailed Oct. 24—British ship Dosworth for Liverpool; 25th, steamer America for San Juan del Sur. Steamer Montana from Panama arrived at 8 o'clock to-night.

COLORADO AND THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The Denver News has the following on the subject of its locality being invaded by the main line of the Pacific Railroad:

> The prospect of the main line of the Pacific Railroad coming to Denver, though not yet secured to us, is by no means of reasoning to be considered as very doubtful. The strong arguments in favor of this route in preference to the "ox-bow," by way of the South Pass, will have due weight in the decision of the company. The gain in the distance much more than compensates for any additional trouble or expense that may be incurred in the passage of the mountains. To this may be added the fact that, our range once passed, no other mountains will be in the way from here to Salt Lake—an advantage that the proposed northern route does not possess. The lessened difficulty on account of snows obstructing the passage, will also be an argument in our favor.

FROM IDAHO.

THE YIELD OF THE OWYHEE MINES.

The Statesman of the 20th instant says:

We find from the returns in the Revenue Assessor's office, that the two assay offices in Owyhee county have made the following return for the month of September of gold and silver bullion assayed by them:

Blake & Co.	$21,356 39
King, Webb, & Co.	92,095 84
Total	$85,951 22

The above is the value in gold coin, but since our Eastern exchanges won't understand how much that is, we will make the statement over again for their benefit in currency at 75 cents, and will then be:

Blake & Co.	$63,473 85
King, Webb, & Co.	21,794 44
Total	$85,268 29

Upon which they pay an income tax of $426 44. That is the return from one little camp not yet begun to be opened so as to yield the hundredth part of what it will yield. Now, don't any one get frightened; we mean it exactly. Owyhee will yet turn out a hundred times as much bullion as that in one month. It should be mentioned that this return is made for the first month after the close of the Morning Star and Oro Fino mines; so the amount is not so large by sixty or eighty thousand as it would be if those mines had been yielding. Nor is it probable that all the bullion produced was deposited and assayed, but the above figures show that considering the amount of capital invested, a profitable return is being realized.

REGULATION OF THE CURRENCY.

A large meeting of the citizens generally of Ruby and Silver was held on Thursday night, to take measures to regulate the currency. It was resolved, we are informed, that Owyhee creek dust would be taken at ten dollars per ounce; Boise at twelve dollars per ounce, and greenbacks at five cents above San Francisco quotations. A subscription was also started to raise a thousand dollars reward for the conviction of any person of counterfeiting gold dust or mixing battery.

DESERTION—RECAPTURE.

Sergeant Calhoun returned yesterday morning from Record's on the Owyhee road, to Fort Boise, with the information that two soldiers deserted night before last from Co, B, Capt. Hinton. Thirteen mules were missing the same night, but are supposed to have strayed, though it is quite probable that the skedaddlers assumed the responsibility to condemn the "transportation" and appropriate it for back pay.

Since the above was put in type we learn that the mules have been found, and one of the deserters captured.

WINTER SETTING IN.

The weather yesterday was mixed. Squalls of rain, wind and a very little snow, with occasional sunshine, made up the day. The higher hills are whitened with several inches of snow.

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

In our last issue we made a statement that only two counties in the Territory, viz: King and Walla Walla, had organized Agricultural Societies. We have been informed since by W. H. Wood, Esq., of Steilacoom, that the Franklin Farmers' Club in Pierce county has been organized for some time past, and holds its regular meetings and annual fairs and is doing very much to develop the agricultural interests of that county. We also learn from the Standard of the 20th inst. that the people of Whatcom county have organized an Agricultural Society, and held their first fair on the 13th, which was said to have been a very creditable affair.

A DISCOVERY OF MAGNESIA.

Mr. Crawford, of Cowlitz County, has discovered a species of magnesia or tripoli, up the banks of the Cowlitz. It is found there in immense quantities. A specimen quantity was given to us by Mr. Steggart, and it seems to possess the qualities of magnesia. Whatever it may be, it is undoubtedly a profitable discovery.

AN INJURIOUS REPORT CORRECTED.

We are informed by a gentleman from the Sound, who resides there, and ought to be considered good authority, that the reported failure of Mr. Meiggs, of Port Madison, as stated in the Oregonian, is without foundation. He reports that the mill in Port Madison is in a flourishing condition and the proprietors abundantly able to meet their obligations. We know Mr. Meiggs to be an energetic and enterprising citizen of this Territory, and feel gratified to hear the aforesaid report contradicted.

"Martha Washington" Hair Restorer is the best thing out in that line, and it is certainly an improvement on all. It is not a dye, nor does it discolor the skin.

ANOTHER WAR THREATENED.—As the Fall trade begins, there seems to be no end to the competitors for low prices, and it is therefore to the interest of the public to know that Messrs. KOHN & FISHEL, at the ST. LOUIS STORE, NO. 111 FRONT STREET, sell the best quality of Custom-Made Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, &c., at such low prices as to astonish the oldest inhabitant. "Competition is the life of trade," therefore call in and examine the stock and compare it with the prices elsewhere.

BUCHTEL'S PREMIUM GALLERY was represented at the State Fair, as it always has been, and did take the FIRST PREMIUM as usual. His work stands for itself and does not require bombastic puffs in self-written cards, to recommend itself to the public. All kinds of work in the art furnished in the very latest styles.

MARRIED:

On the 18th inst., by Judge A. F. Johnson, W. H. Uren, Jr. and Mrs. E. J. Miller, all of Baker City, Oregon.

The Administration has abandoned the old Monroe doctrine, laid down by President Monroe, as the foreign policy of the Government, and it has adopted in its place the new Monroe doctrine, as expounded by Mayor Monroe of New Orleans. The old Monroe doctrine said to foreign potentates, you cannot come to this continent to set up your kingdoms and empires. The new Monroe doctrine says to the loyal population of the South, you dare not hold a convention on Southern soil, for the purpose of establishing liberty, and secure [illegible] the ascendency of those who opposed secession and rebellion, on pain of being massacred by "my slaves and dependants."—Washington Chronicle.

The Oregon City Paper Mill

The building for the pioneer paper mill of Oregon is now completed, in this city, and the machinery well advanced preparatory to active operations. It will in every particular be a first class establishment. The capital stock of the company is $50,000. The present machinery includes one full set of modern cylinder machinery with capacity to turn out about 1,000 pounds of paper per day. Of operatives they will employ about 20 men and women. The building is of brick and stone four stories high 30 by 60 feet in size, with an addition two stories high 17 by 60 feet in size. This space is divided into rooms adapted for the accommodation of the work of making paper which process we shall here attempt to describe, from information derived through Mr T K Clifton.

When the stock is first received it is weighed, and then hoisted to the fourth story of the main building used as a stock room. As it is wanted it is passed through an opening to the third story, or sorting room where the process of sorting the material for each particular kind of paper is gone through with, and the rags so sorted are placed in proper bins. It next passes to the second story where it is subjected to a process of cutting and dusting, thence it passes into the first story where it is bleached, and after passing the engines is collected in large elliptic tubs where it is ground into pulp. The pulp now passes into the "stuff chest," from whence it is pumped up to the paper machines, where the nicest process is performed. After leaving the "stuff chest" the pulp passes into a vat, where it forms into a sheet on a wire cylinder, the water being all extracted by a fan wheel, and turned back to another section of the vat, to pass through the same process over and again, leaving the pulp to adhere to the filling machine as it moves along, on through the first press rolls. At this point the sheet has vitality sufficient in itself to bear its own weight, and it passes on through the second press rolls, next to the drying cylinders, thence through the calendars, next on the reels, and finally to the cutters, where the paper is laid off in sheets, and taken by the heap to the finishing rooms, where it is counted, folded, pressed, bundled, and next finds its way to market.

Taken throughout, the work of making paper is one of rare interest. The mill in this city is really a credit to the superintendent, Mr W. W Buck and chief architect and millwright, Mr A. M Hardin, and an honor to the enterprise of its projectors. There is a great demand for materials by which it may be kept in active operation when once under way. The market for paper on this coast the past two years has been but poorly supplied, and most kinds have been high and constantly hardening. The two mills of California, at Taylorville and Santa Cruz, have been but a mere "drop in the bucket" as it were, as, while they have been constantly employed, prices of paper still gradually advanced with a very scant supply. In 1865 the pioneer mill at Taylorville manufactured 5,630 reams of news, and 6,840 reams of wrapping. They are doing even better than that the present year, and yet they are unable to fill their orders. We have no report from the Santa Cruz mill, but no doubt they are doing equally as well.

The Oregon City mill will open with a very liberal prospect for the future. The stock on hand is not of sufficient amount to warrant the company in making news paper at first, but they are prepared to do so as soon as they have material. Rags have been uncommonly scarce and high, in all parts of the country for the past few years. This being the case, paper makers have been turning their attention to the discovery of other materials suitable for paper stock. All kinds of plants, from those which grow near our own doors to the luxuriant growths of tropical regions, have been experimented on with but partial success, but now it seems probable that for the future, the main source of supply will be the forest. It is at least a century, and we do not know how much longer ago, since paper was made experimentally in Europe, from wood, and, notwithstanding repeated improvements, the requirements of cost and quality have not, until recently, been met. The manufacture of wood paper is now, however, an accomplished fact. There are two large establishments, near Philadelphia, where it is carried on. In one of these, a paper containing sixty per cent of wood pulp is turned out, and in the other, which is on an immense scale, an excellent paper for printing purposes, composed of eighty per cent wood and twenty per cent straw, is made. The larger and more successful establishment is capable of turning out from 24,000 to 30,000 pounds of pulp daily.

ARMY INTELLIGENCE.—We learn from the Vancouver Register that Capt. Sanborn, who has been appointed a Lieutenant in the regular army, is ordered to report to Gen. Meade, at Philadelphia.

Dr. Whittemore has been relieved from duty as Surgeon, at Colville, at his own request, and is succeeded by Dr Walker.

A recruiting officer has been sent to Warm Springs reservation to enlist friendly Indians to act as scouts against the Snakes.

Fort Steilacoom is now garrisoned by a detachment of artillery, under Lieut. Groves. A company of Artillery is soon expected from Humboldt.

Three hundred and fifty soldiers for this Department are expected on the next steamer.

Captain Henton's company of the 14th Infantry, left for Fort Warren on the 16th.

The Infantry officers of this Division are circulating a petition for a change in the uniform of the Infantry army—to make it more nearly equal in appearance to that of the cavalry and artillery.

THE CALL.—The Call raised the ire of the Examiner, and "Ben" comes down on the Call in this wise:

Ask any one who reads it, what merit it possesses, and there is but one answer: "It is cheap—only a bit a week." Its news is always second hand—its editorials washy-washy, commonplace and truckling—its politics mongrel, and its typography abominable. It is patronized on the principle that there are more drinkers of cheap and bad whisky than of superior liquors. Besides every family needs a certain amount of waste paper about the house, and the Call fills the bill.

D. C. Pearson, the Grand Worthy Secretary of the Grand Lodge of the I. O. G. T., has resigned that office being about to remove with his family to California.

What Experienced Mill Men think of the Portable Steam Saw Mills built by the Oregon Iron Works:

PORTLAND, Oct 18th, 1866.

TO THE OREGON IRON WORKS:
Gentlemen:—The Portable Steam Saw Mill which we purchased of you last spring for Pend Oreille Lake, has been in operation during the past season, and has more than met our expectations in its performance. With three men we turn out from three to four thousand feet, and with five men, five thousand feet per day of ten hours; and we take pleasure in recommending these mills as the most SUBSTANTIAL, DESIRABLE AND PERFECT MILLS IN USE and especially adapted to the wants of this country on account of their compact form, ease of transportation and the facility with which they can be set up and put in operation. Although subjected to the most severe tests, no repairs have been required.

CIRCULAR
To the Officers and Soldiers Oregon Volunteers

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SALEM Oct 23 1866.

BY RECENT ACTS OF CONGRESS ALL OFFICERS [illegible] of the Volunteer Service, who were in Commission on March 3d, 1865, and subsequently mustered out after April 30, 1865, are entitled to three months extra pay. [illegible] July 28, 1866 [illegible] the following rules and regulations [illegible] the War Department are published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE PAYMENT OF BOUNTIES, UNDER THE ACT TO EQUALIZE BOUNTIES APPROVED JULY 28, 1866.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, September 15, 1866.

1 All applications shall be filed within the period of six months from the 1st day of October 1866 and before any payments are made shall be classified by regiments, battalions or other separate organizations, and no application filed after that period shall be settled until after those first filed shall have been paid.

2 No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the Act, and the further affidavit that he has not received nor is he entitled to receive from the United States under any laws or regulations prior to the Act of July 28, 1866 more than $100 bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion, over and above the amount therein claimed.

3 All applications for the additional bounty authorized by this Act from surviving soldiers shall be in the form hereinafter prescribed, and the evidence of identity shall be the same as is now required, and applications from the heirs of deceased soldiers shall be in the form now required by the Treasury Department.

4 As soon as the examination of the claims of any regiment, or other independent organization shall have been properly acted upon the Paymaster General shall take the necessary steps for their prompt payment.

5 A register shall be kept in the Paymaster General's office and also in the office of the Second Auditor of all claims presented under the law, in which the claimants will be classified by regiments, etc. If the claims be allowed the amount of bounty paid to each will be noted and if rejected the cause of rejection will be distinctly stated.

6 In the applications for bounty, as required by the third of these rules, the affidavit shall state each and every period of service rendered by the claimant, and also that he never served otherwise than as herein stated.

7 Organizations irregularly in the service of the United States, or called out for special purposes, as State Militia, Home Guards, etc., and not included in the general bounty laws, are not included within the meaning of the Act.

8 Soldiers enlisted for three years or during the war, who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war shall be considered as having served out the period of their enlistment, and are entitled to bounty under this Act.

9 The minority of heirs, claimants for bounty under this Act, must be proven to have existed at the date of its passage. Parents shall receive jointly the bounty to which they may be entitled as heirs, unless the father has abandoned the support of his family, in which case it shall be paid to the mother. Non-residence in the United States shall not be a bar to the claim of heirs, who would otherwise legally inherit.

1 Those who, after serving the full period of their enlistment, were dishonorably discharged at its expiration.

2 Those discharged during enlistment by way of favor or punishment.

3. Those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service but not occasioned by wounds received in the line of duty, who shall not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of discharge.

4 Those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment.

5 The heirs of those who have died since their discharge of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and in the line of duty.

6. The surviving soldiers and heirs of deceased soldiers who, under previous laws, have received or are entitled to receive a bounty of more than $100 from the United States.

7 The surviving soldiers, as well as the heirs of deceased soldiers, when such soldiers have bartered, sold, assigned, loaned, transferred, exchanged or given away their final discharge papers, or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other Act of Congress.

8 The Act of the 28th of July 1866 creates no right of inheritance beyond those vested by the law under which those heirs received or were entitled to receive the original bounty, and debars certain classes, brothers and sisters of heirs that were entitled to receive the original bounty, from any claim for the additional bounty provided by this Act.

Respectfully referred to the Attorney General for his opinion on the point whether the rules and regulations as within amended are in conformity with law.

September 14, 1866.
EDWIN M STANTON,
Secretary of War

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

OPENING ADDRESS

Delivered before the Oregon State Agricultural Society, at its Sixth Annual Fair, October 19th, 1866, by the President, James H. Douthit.

[The following address was received by us on Saturday last from the Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, with a request that it have an early insertion in this paper. We wish to say that "an early insertion" was impossible, as the address was not sent us for ten days after its delivery. Had it been sent in proper season, the request of the Secretary would have been promptly responded to.—ED. OREGONIAN.]

FELLOW-CITIZENS OF THE STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY: It is my duty at this hour, according to the arrangements of the Executive Committee and the practice of former Presidents, to deliver the Opening Address.

Though not in the habit of much public speaking, and were it not that I am persuaded that a large majority of this vast assemblage are men and women who, by experience, can and will appreciate any want of ability or interest in what I may say, from the fact that they know the embarrassment and difficulties that surrounds the laboring man's occupation, I might decline the effort. But having been elected last year to this position without my consent, desire, or expectation, and not being ashamed of the character of the laborer nor the calling of the farmer, nor possessing any particular desire to please the fancy of those who would startle at the idea of a workingman talking to the public, I therefore ask your patient attention for the short time that I shall address you.

Gatherings of people are common and frequent in our country, yet there is in none of them that degree of interest represented as is the case here to-day, and I trust that every lover of the industry of their country will feel a very great gratification in beholding so many proofs of the toil, energy, taste and skill of the bone and sinew of the land.

Parliamentary and legislative bodies meet for the purpose of considering and making laws for supposed general good. Convocations of ecclesiastical and religious associations assemble to deliberate upon the interest of their particular sects and their views of Christianity. Courts are held to enforce laws and settle disputed points among individuals. Political conventions and meetings convene to make candidates for office and otherwise to advance the interests of their respective parties and party men. And but few things of a public or general nature is done or sought to be done but what some kind of public notoriety is taken or made of it. In all of these, much learning and ability may be brought and displayed; fine hairbreadth theories and dogmas discussed and laid down and given out to the public as rules of action for the purposed and intended good of community. Such collections of people have been common in almost all ages and in all civilized parts of the world. But until quite recently has the laboring class assembled as we are here to-day, having the evidence of industry and their usefulness to society represented, not by words, but by unmistakable deeds. Contrast for a moment the necessity for, and paramount influence that the product of the labor has over all other engagements of life. The law-giver may make the most wholesome and judicious laws that the wants of the most enlightened civilization demands. The pure and all sublime principles of Christianity may be preached in their intended simplicity, and their excellences practiced and lived up to by all mankind; and all may be what is termed ripe scholars, yet without food and raiment, the direct result of labor, everything else would cease, and all would be as sounding brass and tinkling of a cymbal.

Among the first commands given by our Creator to man, was, that he should work that he might eat his daily bread; and Paul, the great Apostle of the Christian Religion, said to his brethren of that day, that if any would not work neither should they eat. If this doctrine was enforced to-day, and in our own land, there would be many busy-bodies turned to usefulness instead of creating strife and discord among men; and then the tax upon the labor of the country, necessary for its maintenance and proper development, would fall much lighter upon those who now perform it.

Many inventions are sought out by men to avoid working for their own subsistence; and this, perhaps, has been the case in all ages of the world and in all centuries; and the more of this class that any country may have, the more of strife and discord will that country be cursed with, both in church and state.

The schisms in church and state that cost the labor of the country so much blood and treasure, are generally the results of the action and course of the idle and unemployed. Hence, we can see the wisdom of God in decreeing that, by the sweat of one's face should we eat bread all the days of our lives; and also the justness of Paul to his brethren, that if any would not work neither should they eat. It is a pity we have not more following his example, that with their own labor, supplying their own wants, and teaching their followers to study, to be quiet, to work with their own hands. In my judgment, it is out of the question for any idle soul to be a good citizen, much less any part of a Christian. Not that all should be farmers or producers of the substantials of life, or raw material. It is true in the main, that farming and stock-raising of most countries is the basis to everything else, and it is clearly so in our State to a great extent. Yet if the other branches of industry of which the interest and wants of the country demand, and its resources require, and to which it is adapted, are neglected and lost sight of, farming and stock raising would not amount to much in the end. Then every branch of industry which tends to the development of our whole resources, and the happiness, pleasure and benefit of the people, is absolutely called for, and should be cherished and fostered by every lover of his country; and the different professions, trades and occupations be pursued with intelligence, energy and industry. Every soul should have a legitimate business and follow it with an honest purpose, striving to do his or her part well, for the good of themselves and the community around them.

Having a climate and soil, timber, water, water-power, minerals, and channels of commerce furnished us by our Creator, equal, as a whole, if not superior, to any part of the world, to encourage and inviting us to develop and improve to our wants and pleasure. Perhaps no State in the Union has made, considering the difficulties and hardships of its settlement, greater or better improvements in the same length of time, according to population, than has Oregon. I may be safe in saying, that twenty years ago the settlement of the State had not more than began in earnest, and to-day are witnessed all over the settled portion of the country much of the comforts and many of the conveniences of civilized life. We not only have good and well improved farms, passable roads, bridges and ferries; but churches, colleges, school-houses, cities, towns and villages all over the inhabited parts of the State. Not these alone—manufacturing establishments and workshops approaching almost equal to our present wants, and the means of transportation fully up to our present demands, at least in the Willamette and Columbia river settlements. Whilst, in the opinion of some, a portion of the improvements and enterprises that exist are monopolies; yet if they were stricken out of existence a material interest of the country would be injured and a great convenience to the country cut off.

I had hoped to have been able to present to you at this time a tolerable full statement of our productions and of the working capacity of the different milling and manufacturing establishments in the State, but the want of time and opportunity on my part to collect, and some remissness on the part of the managers of the establishments to furnish me with such statements as requested, I cannot do so to the extent desired.

Among the more worthy and beneficial improvements of the State are the numerous edifices for educational purposes, whilst we have, perhaps, colleges and what is termed high schools enough for present wants. Yet a great deficiency exists in interest by the masses with common schools, where the most of the children of the laboring classes must be educated, if at all. And, perhaps, there is no part of the interest of the country, considering its importance, more neglected than our common school system; and while political influences control, as they have in the past, we can hardly promise ourselves a better state of affairs in this particular.

The manufacturing establishments and machine shops that have been erected in the last few years in the State, is of vast importance to the industry of the same. But a few years ago we were almost entirely supplied with many of the articles of necessity from abroad, that are now being produced by our own people and in our own State. The Willamette Woolen Mills, the pioneer of the kind on the coast, located within hearing of this place, is capable of consuming 400,000 pounds of wool annually, and make 1,000 yards of cloth daily, employing ninety hands and paying operatives over $60,000 annually.

The Oregon City Mills, the most substantial of the kind in the State, is capacitated to work 300,000 pounds of wool yearly, making about 6,000 yards of cloth weekly, and employs eighty operatives.

The Eagle Mills, located at Brownsville, Linn county, works fifty operatives, making 3,500 yards of cloth weekly, and consumes 1,500 pounds of wool annually.

The Ellendale Mill, in Polk county, near Dallas, has a capacity to work twenty hands, using 75,000 pounds of wool yearly, and can turn out 300 yards of cloth daily, and make 100 pounds of yarn.

The iron foundries that are already in existence form a very interesting part of the improvements of the State, and add much to the interest and convenience of the people, the most extensive of which are located at Portland, where the most simple manufacture of iron or casting can be made up to all the fixtures of a river steamer. I am informed that the Oregon Iron Works, at Portland, works about fifty men, daily consuming about six tons of raw material, and turns out work to the value of $1,000 for the same length of time. At this place, Oregon City, the Dalles and at Albany there are iron works, but not so extensive as those at Portland; yet have the capacity and do a great amount of work, equal to the wants of their several localities.

The Oswego Iron Works, in course of erection, for the manufacture of iron from the ore, is one of the most important enterprises of the State. Also the paper mill at Oregon City cannot be considered second to any in telling the future prosperity. And not the least, by far, in interest to the resources of the State is the contemplated oil mill and rope factory at the Capital; and the flax on exhibition is only, it is to be hoped, the beginning of an important source of wealth.

Machine shops for working wood and planing mills are to be found in the principal towns and villages in the State. Flouring and lumbering mills, many of them of the first quality, are equal to the wants of most parts of the State. The several mechanic arts and trades are being well pursued in every locality, and the class of work done shows that our mechanics are keeping up with the times and wants of the country. Printing establishments are fully up to our wants, and of a party character, burthensome and injurious. The mercantile interest is not wanting in capital or persons to engage in it. Perhaps the wants of the country are as fully met in this avocation as any other among us. The stock interest of the country is increasing in importance. More attention is being paid to kind and quality, and we now have in the State—and I am glad there are so many—some of the finest or best quality of each class. Our mineral resources within and on our borders are extensive and rich, and are being developed with energy and industry—affording a market for our surplus stock and much of our produce.

Having hastily glanced at the elements of prosperity that, by the energy and industry of the country, has been thus far developed, it belongs to the future patient, untiring, well-directed energy, capital, labor and industry of the population of the State to make it what we all desire, one of the best cultivated parts of our common country, and as little dependent on others as the nature of circumstances will permit. Nothing but labor alone will accomplish this. It is true we may have aids in capital, improved implements and machinery, and the experience of the past and the future experiments of each other. And in order that we may have and give each other the advantage of what is known and learned as we progress, we must have a common organ, one which we, as sects and partisans, can all approach and use; one in which we all feel a common interest, and which the laboring classes will aid with subscription and correspondence. When we consider that this is a different climate and soil from any that we have been acquainted with, and the most of our farming done in a different way to the manner of farming in our old localities, the necessity is more apparent.

The agricultural interest being, as all admit, of the first importance, it is strange that so many men engaged in it are so indifferent as to the best mode and manner of pursuing the same, or do so little to advance the common interest, or take such a shallow view of the necessity of a paper devoted to the interest of the laboring classes. Religious, political and other pursuits would not think of doing without the aid of prints, if they can be sustained.

Political parties think it of so much importance in conducting a canvass, that they frequently have campaign papers for the success of a single election, when, in most cases, the benefit results to but few. Yet, in this new locality of our operations, when, if we would do our duty, great good would result from supporting and reading a paper devoted to our calling, and our burthens thereby made lighter. Interest and selfishness is the great motive power by which the world of mankind are governed; and if publications are of so much importance to other pursuits that they are indispensable to their success, certainly the industry of the country is of much more importance and the necessity far greater for publications devoted to its success. And further: if the laboring classes expect to wield that influence and command that respect that their interest, duty and usefulness to society demands, they must think and act more in common for themselves, not only in what relates to their particular calling, but everything that directly or indirectly bears upon their happiness, peace and prosperity. It is true that they are too much controlled and used by men in what are termed the higher walks of life, and made to subserve the accomplishment of the designs of the ambitious and ends of those who have no interest in common with them.

When I say that the destiny of our common country is managed and controlled by the learned professions and managing politicians, I utter a sentiment that will hardly be questioned. In other words, they make the religious and political creed of the country.

I have intentionally said but little in relation to farming, not that I do not feel the importance of its paramount mistake. You will no doubt be ably addressed on that subject by Mr. Beatie, who will deliver the annual address on Friday. For him I ask an attentive hearing, as he is a farmer by vocation; and I understand it has been his main business for a living for himself and family. Perhaps the objects and the results of fairs like unto ours should have some thought given them. As I have said agricultural and mechanical fairs are of but recent date in the history of our country, though at this time more or less encouraged by most of the States of our Government. And in many of them material aid has been granted by legislative action. In our own State and to our Society none has been asked for nor given, though the time of the legislators has been devoted to many, very many, objects of far less importance, and the money of the people bestowed on much more unworthy subjects; and I am sorry to say that more attention is and has been paid by the present and past Legislatures to the interest of party and the success of the respective parties of the day than to the substantial wants of the country.

That exhibitions at fairs have been and are beneficial to a country there can be no question, and are destined to awaken new impulses of enterprise and improvement. They are in the hands and are controlled in the main by the working people of the day; and to question their result for good is an insult to the intelligence and industry of the laboring classes. No practical, inquiring mind can help learning something new and useful, when seeing and examining the various articles and stock on exhibition. And then man needs a closer acquaintance with man the world over, and no place furnishes a better opportunity than fairs for furnishing men with the intelligent and useful of the country, and at the same time much valuable information may be learned by interchange of ideas in relation to every branch of industry. It is true objections are raised by some and fault found by others with a part of the exercises; but this is the case with everything else that is done, and it is absolutely out of the question to satisfy the notions of all in any enterprise whatever. Coming up here voluntarily, as we do, from every part of the State, representatives of and representing each branch of industry upon a common level and having one common object in view—the development of our whole resources and the advancement of the happiness and prosperity of the entire people, we will leave here with new energy for the coming toils; our sympathies increased for those occupying like positions, and our desires for the mutual welfare and happiness of each other brightened.

Ladies and gentlemen, the sixth annual fair of the Oregon State Agricultural Society is now ready for active duties.

JOHNSON'S POLICY SHOWS UP.—The Detroit Post, edited by Carl Schurz, thus shows up in a sharp and comprehensive manner the policy of the President:

Johnson pronounces the present Congress unconstitutional." It was elected by the same constituency that elected him. He is therefore an unconstitutional President. All his acts must therefore be unconstitutional. Consequently, the pardons he has issued to rebels are worthless. The provisional Governments he established were illegal. The rebel State Governments organized under his authority have no validity. The representatives elected under their auspices are bogus, and have no more right to their seats than the representatives who prevent them from taking them, and the latter have not even the right of permitting them to enter Congress. In other words, if Johnson's policy is correct, we have no Government at all. If Johnson's proposition is correct, and he obstinately adheres to it as though it were, this conclusion is correct. If this conclusion is absurd, it is because Johnson's policy is absurd, and he is responsible for that.

The Vicksburg Clarion of the 7th September says: "Joseph E. Davis, the venerable brother of our ex-confederate President, has been pardoned by President Johnson. It is expected that the other brother will also be pardoned by the same humane and enlightened functionary, 'as he swings around the circle.'"

The Difference.

Will the Bee show us the difference between George Washington and Robert E. Lee? Their acts were precisely alike. If one was guilty of perjury, why was not the other?—Colusa Sun.

Did George Washington swear to support the Constitution of the United States? Yes. Did he ever violate that oath by turning traitor and levying war against the United States? No. Did Robert E. Lee ever swear to support the Constitution of the United States? Yes. Did he ever violate that oath by turning traitor and levying war against the United States? Yes. The difference is, that Washington was a patriot, and Lee a perjured traitor.

George Washington helped to make the Constitution, and fought to make and sustain the Government—Lee fought to tear both down.

But what the young Phidias, who drives the quill of the Sun, means is, that both were rebels, and thus precisely alike. Did George Washington ever swear to support the British Constitution? No. Did he ever swear to support the crown? Where is the evidence? But admit that he had taken that oath. There is a wide difference between a Monarchy and a Republic, and as wide between rebelling against them. But the Sun wants to claim for Lee that he was a revolutionist, and that revolution is a right of man, so declared by the Declaration of Independence. This is a mistake—man has no right to rebel against a Government of the people like ours. For the majority have the right to govern, and to interpret the Constitution against the minority. The rebels claim that the North had violated the spirit, if not the letter of the Constitution, but the Supreme Court never said so, nor did a majority of the Southern people say so. Stephens did not; on the contrary, he contended strenuously that they had obeyed it to the letter. Lee did not say that the North had violated the Constitution, nor invaded the rights of the South—he went with his State; that was all he said. But even if the South had been unanimous in declaring that the North had violated the compact, it is not the province of the minority to construe the law for themselves. Our Government provides for an authoritative declaration upon laws and actions.

The South dared not to appeal to that authority; they knew they would lose their case. They knew they had no sufficient reason for rebellion or revolution; they knew that they had lost power, and they would not stay and submit to the sway of the majority, ruling according to the Constitution and laws. Now our Government has embodied in the Constitution the full and only right of revolution that exists, or can exist in a free Government. Once in four years we can have a revolution according to law in this nation. Every year in the States, if they so elect. If there is a majority for a revolution, or a plurality even, they can effect a peaceful change of officers. A minority, under the plurality rule, may change the whole administration. Less than a plurality ought not to change a government. And if they determine to, as the South did, it is because they spit upon our form of government, and will not stay under the rule of the majority. Thus they rebel not alone against the majority and the Government, but against the republican form of government. They must rebel in the interests of despotism, monarchy, oligarchy, or aristocracy. Or to put the best possible face upon it, they refuse to submit to the majority and go out. There is abundant evidence that the South intended to subdue the North, and did not wish simply to get away from the majority. They thought they and their allies were the best fighters, and if they could not rule by the ballot, they could by the bullet. We are aware that secessionists say that we have no nation, and that the Constitution does not establish a Government of the United States that can defend itself and subdue rebels; but that is a mere dictum which no sane man ever believed, and it has been very thoroughly let out by the war. And before any man ever avows it again, let him begin by proving that a part is greater than the whole. The difference then is, that Washington swore to support the Constitution of the United States and kept his oath. Lee swore to support the Constitution of the United States, and broke his oath. Washington rebelled against a monarchy, unjust and oppressive. Lee against a government by the people that had educated and honored him, and ruled all her citizens justly and nobly. Washington fought for liberty, Lee for slavery. Washington had right, and truth, and God on his side, and a reasonable ground of success; Lee had wrong, and falsehood, and the father of lies, and no reasonable hope of success on his side. Washington stands in history personified patriotism; Lee stands personified ingratitude, perfidy and treason. Let them never be mentioned in the same breath.—Sacramento Bee.

LINCOLN AND STANTON.—"A few days before the President's death, Secretary Stanton tendered his resignation of the War Department. He accompanied the act with a heartfelt tribute to Mr. Lincoln's constant friendship and faithful devotion to the country; saying, also, that he as Secretary had accepted the position to hold it only until the war should end, and that now he felt his work was done, and that his duty was to resign.

"Mr. Lincoln was greatly moved by the Secretary's words, and tearing in pieces the paper containing the resignation, and throwing his arms about the Secretary he said: 'Stanton, you have been a good friend and a faithful public servant, and it is not for you to say when you will no longer be needed here.' Several friends of both parties were present on the occasion, and there was not a dry eye that witnessed the scene."

JOHNSON DEMOCRACY.—One of President Johnson's Congressional candidates, in Ohio, made the following appeal to his Democratic friends during the war: "Democrats, arm yourselves. Go armed to the polls. Resist the draft, for if blood is to be shed, it might as well be shed in Sandusky county as in Abe Lincoln's slaughter-pens." Can any one inform us of a single Copperhead who talked in this way of Mr. Lincoln who does not hurrah for Johnson?

A GOOD SUGGESTION.—The New York Times suggests that the President, accompanied by General Grant and Admiral Farragut "follow up their present tour by another through the States of the South." This is all very well so far as President Johnson is concerned; but we think he would receive a greater ovation in the South if he were accompanied by "General" Lee and "Admiral" Semmes. Grant and Farragut are at a discount in Dixie.

The pretty wife of one George Doremus of Baltimore "shadowed" her husband to the house of a very fashionable wanton, in Washington, where she gave him the weight of her parasol to the best of her ability, and informed him that he was wanted in Baltimore—all of which had a magic effect, and to Baltimore he went.

SOMETHING NEW!
THE NEW LIGHT!
DANFORD'S
Atmospheric Coal Oil Gas Lamp!
ARTIFICIAL LIGHT OF SOME SORT, IS A UNIVERSAL necessity. A Safe, Cheap and Brilliant one is a Luxury—a luxury only enjoyed heretofore by those who live in large cities where Gas is used! Years of study and much capital have been exhausted in experiments to produce a lamp wherein the ordinary Kerosene or Coal Oil could be used without a chimney, and without unpleasant odor while in use. That fruitful source of expense, trouble and annoyance, the chimney, is in DANFORD'S COAL OIL GAS LAMP avoided; it is the most perfect Lamp and will entirely supersede all other Coal Oil Lamps; it is the cheapest artificial light that can be used, yielding the light of an ordinary six foot Gas burner for less than ½ cent per hour, or double the quantity of light of an ordinary Chimney Lamp, for one third the cost. It will burn when turned down to a taper-light, ten hours for a cent, and is free from smoke, can be carried from room to room and the wind will not blow it out. These LAMPS will be on exhibition and for sale at the Music and Art Gallery of Shanahan & Dufrene, corner of Morrison and First streets.

Medical.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE,
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,
617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.
Horrible Diseases.
How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system: Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians in Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.
Seminal Weakness.
Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, the solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give Five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by any of the San Francisco quacks.
DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give every patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.
Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in a registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.
Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 1957.
Consultations FREE.
Prevention Better than Cure.
The newly invented Patent French Safe, a sure preventive against Diseases and Pregnancy, sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, Kearney St., cor. Commercial, San Francisco.
Correspondents will please inform Dr. Gibbon that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

even were he now to comply with his con-
